Band Boosters Club Entertain School Band With Banquet

Mrs. J. W. Giffee, President of Band Booster Club, Acted As Toast Mistress

One of the most festive affairs ever staged in Grenada took place in the Community House Tuesday night when the members of the Band Boosters Club entertained the members of the Grenada School Band with a banquet and informal "Kiddie" party.

The tables, resplendent with decorations of lovely flowers, balloons, horns and lollypops for place cards, were spread for seventy-two bandsmen, of both first and second bands, with director Roger Dollarhide, Mrs. Dollarhide and Mr. and Mrs. John Rundle as guests.

Mrs. J. W. Giffee, President of the Band Boosters Club, acted as toast mistress and delivered the welcome address, explaining the object of the occasion. In the recent band contest in Jackson, the Grenada Band won superior rating in both marching and concert, thus bringing back honors not only for themselves but for the school and community.

The formality of the occasion was relieved by the costumes worn. Each one present was dressed younger than their age. One group of boys was especially unique and added much to the evening's gaity by dressing as the Dionne Quintuplets in long white gowns, bonnets and bottles. This group, Clifford Bailey, Dick Rule, Paul Lockett, Barney Echols, and Bobby Sharp, won the prize as the cutest dressed boys, while Cora Mullin won it for the cutest dressed girl.

Bobby Sharp, President of the band, responded to the welcome address, also expressing the appreciation of the members to Sheppard [illegible] director; Mr. Dollarhide and Mr. Rundle.

Mrs. Giffee, between courses, introduced Mr. Rundle, Mr. Dollarhide, Peggy Spain as Drum Major, Mary Douglas Honeycutt, the band sponsor, Ernest Penn, who rated superior in drum solo, and the two soloist accompanist, Gene Harders and Mrs. Roger Dollarhide. These short talks were concluded by Walter Giffee, Vice-President of the Band, who spoke of the band members appreciation of their out-going President, Bobby Sharp.

After a sumptuous spread the guests enjoyed an hour of games of fun and frolic conducted by Mary Elizabeth McNeill, WPA Recreation Director.

It is hoped by the members of the Band Boosters Club that the Grenada Band will always be able to merit these honors, that we will always be fortunate enough to have Roger Dollarhide with our children and that the community as a whole will come to realize more and more the value and ability of this group of fine young people.

Grenada Bankers Attend Convention

Messrs. Ben C. Adams, Cashier Grenada Bank, and William Keene Huffington, Cashier Grenada Trust & Banking Company, spent Tuesday and Wednesday in New Orleans attending a joint meeting of the Louisiana-Mississippi Bankers Association.

Both report that they really attended the business meeting and enjoyed the social programs very much.

Judging Contest At State College

The District Judging Contest for F. F. A. Chapters and Vocational Agricultural students was held at Mississippi State College on May 6. The Holcomb team, composed of Maurice Phillips, Joe Brigance and Robert Lee Harris, won first place in judging livestock and will represent this district in the Junior Livestock Judging Contest to be held at Como on May 24.

J. K. Ward, Clanton Allen and Buford Tolpet represented the Holcomb Chapter in judging dairy cows. They did not prove their ability to the other boys did, but made good showing.—Reporter.

Mrs. W. B. Walker Answers Master's Call On May 6th

Was Teacher and Matron In Schools of Webster County For Thirty Years

Written by request of family by Mrs. Margaret Sledge Walker, a special friend of the family).

Duck Hill, Miss., May 10—(Special to The Sentinel)—Funeral services were held Sunday morning at the Duck Hill Baptist Church for Mrs. W. B. Walker, whose death occurred at her home here Friday evening, May 6th, following several weeks of illness.

Mrs. Walker's maiden name was Epsie D. Wray. She was born November 25, 1871, at Shiloh, near Winona in Montgomery county, the only daughter of Nancy and D. M. Wray. She was educated in the Montgomery county public schools and former Winona Female College. She was married January 1, 1890, to William Beason Walker, of Slate Springs, Miss noted educator of North Mississippi, who preceded her in death in December of 1934.

For thirty years Mrs. Walker was teacher and matron in schools of Webster county. Most of this time was spent in Bellfountaine and Maben Boarding Schools. A host of school children, now men and women, scattered all over this state, and many in other states, knew and loved her as "Mama Walker". Many came on this "Mother's Day" in loving remembrance and to pay tribute to the one who had mothered so many during her well spent life.

She was a devoted member of the Duck Hill Baptist Church. A very active member of the W. M. U., and other church work up until the time of her death. Her wise counsel was sought by many. She understood the sorrows of others and knew how to sympathize.

Mrs. Walker is survived by one brother, J. L. Wray, of Duck Hill, and nine children, Mrs. N. C. Noncrief, of Okolona, Miss., Mrs. C. J. Sherman, Maben, Miss., Mrs. Elmo Branch, Duck Hill, Miss., T. P. Walker, Jackson, Miss., Mrs. J. S. Hollingsworth, San Francisco, Calif., Mrs. Hulen Bishop, Dallas, Texas, Mrs. W. A. Templeton, State College, Miss., Miss Sallie Wray Walker, Duck Hill, Miss., E. B. Walker, Jackson, Miss., and six grand-children.

After funeral services from the Duck Hill Baptist Church, conducted by Rev. W. R. Story, pastor of Sardis Baptist Church and former pastor of the Duck Hill church, assisted by Rev. E. N. Roberts, local pastor of the Duck Hill Baptist Church, the services were completed at North Union cemetery, Bellfountaine, Miss., by Rev. J. B. Middleton, pastor of the Baptist Church at Eupora, former student of Mrs. Walker.

Active pallbearers: J. E. Aldridge, W. B. Caffey, A. L. Taylor, Duck Hill; E. J. Moak, Jackson; W. E. Crutcher, Greenwood; J. T. Idom, Grenada.

Honorary pallbearers: Dr. H. B. Oliver, J. W. Leigh, W. A. Oliver, C. A. Wilkins, R. C. Fox B. E. Embry, E. D. Embry, A. W. Moore, W. A. Dunn, G. T. Sledge, and F. M. McCuiston, Duck Hill; Dr. C. P. Hemphill, Sweatman; Jack Zinn, Calhoun City; J. A. Hardy, Carl Hardy, and Dr. E. F. Arnold, Bellfountaine; P. A. Reed, E. Lovett, Maben.

Garner Brothers were in charge of funeral.

Grenadian One of 77 Men Chosen to Train For Highway Patrol

Tatum One of 585 Applicants Taking Mental and Physical Examinations

Burns Tatum, of Grenada,, was one of 77 men selected Tuesday from a field of 585 taking mental and physical examinations at Jackson for the 53 jobs as patrolmen under the new State Highway Safety Patrol.

He will begin a 30-day training at Camp Shelby, May 15 and, Commissioner Birdsong said, the final selection will be based on the showing at the training school.

TILGHMAN

(By W. E. Boushe)

One need not go to a palace to find the heart of a prince. Nor does broadcloth and shining raiment bespeak the better man. 1,000 cattle on a hundred hills may not necessarily tell of a better business man, for the sunshine of opportunity has not always fallen on every man with equal intensity. Many of the finest men I have ever known or knew of came from hampered conditions, financial and otherwise, and made good despite the handicap. Abraham Lincoln was born in a crude log cabin, his education came largely from his mother. Garfield drove a canal boat. Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, could not read and write until taught by his wife.

Of the people of this community who have made good with poor chances, I would mention the late August Olson, who from a tenant farmer, became one of the largest planters of Grenada county, but however I won't go into enumerations, as I could go on indefinately. Many of the best and finest men we have today are tenant farmers or are people who have risen from the ranks of tenancy and we should all rejoice that means are now being promoted by the government whereby those worthy, may own their own home. Thus observing the Biblical admonition, "in first book of Timothy which says, "Thou shalt not muzzle the ox that treadeth the corn, and the laborer is worthy of his reward." It is finding those things in my heart, I chose for my subject two fine and worthy men, tenant farmers, Horace and Millard Tilghman, of near Hardy Station, that locality from which have come so many of our sterling citizens. They are the sons of Jim and Lilly Tilghman, two fine characters of the old school, people whose word was their bond, who placed honor above earthly goods. Just the parents for the honest, upright family they reared. There were ten children; six girls, all married, all noble women; four boys. One son, Sam, lives with Horace. He too is a fine boy. We all remember with kindness of heart and affection, the son, James, who was blind. He made a good run for the legislature and made many friends as well. He was intelligent and well posted, and a pleasant conversationalist. I think he now lives in Arkansas, but wherever he is, the people of Grenada county along with myself, wish him only the best. But back to Horace and Millard, the subjects of this sketch, both fine, honorable men with deep religious convictions, doing right as God gives them the discernment to see that right. They look the world in the face for they have nothing to be ashamed of. Whatever their hands find to do, they do it, and do it well. Their word [illegible] just as good as their bond, recognizing there can be but one standard of honesty.

I have often stopped by the homes of these two fine men. Their premises are well kept and inviting. Their doors are open to their friends, and I flatter myself in saying I am sure I am one of those friends and there you find also good cows, hogs, chickens and stock, all well tended, as are the home premises, so are their fields always clean and well tilled. They never shirk the duty before them by taking the short-cut, unless it is the right cut.

Horace Tilghman lives on the old Vaughman place west of Hardy, owned by Mr. Martin. Mr. Martin could not have done better. He is the father, I think of eight children. He married a Miss Miller, a gentle lady, who does not hesitate to do her part, a good wife and a good mother.

Millard Tilghman works the Collins place. He married a Miss Lacy, a lady of many fine attributions. They too are the parents of eight representative children, the oldest daughter, now married to Mr. Leland Whitten. I understand under the Jones-Bankhead law, whereby the tenant may become a landlord or home owner, Mr. Millard Tilghman was one of the first to be selected, the choice was indeed a fortunate and happy one. This is bearing out the Scripture which says, "Well done, good and faithful servants, come into thy reward." My prediction is he will more than make good.

202 Initial Claims Received In April At Grenada Office

Calhoun, Carroll, Grenada, and Montgomery Counties Handled In Grenada

During April the Grenada office of the Mississippi State Employment Service received 202 initial claims for job insurance, 271 waiting period reports, and 63 continued claims.

The operating area of this office includes Calhoun, Carroll, Grenada and Montgomery counties.

Each claimant's waiting period begins when he files his initial [illegible] after each week of the waiting period, which usually lasts two weeks. Afterward the claimant files weekly continued claims, upon which checks are written for a limited number of weeks if he is unemployed, eligible for benefits, and available for any suitable work which is offered him.

All claims are forwarded to the job insurance division of the Mississippi Unemployment Compensation Commission. During April the commission received 11,740 initial claims and acted upon 10,624. Of this number 9,371, or 88 percent, were found eligible for benefits, and 1,253, or 12 percent, ineligible.

"Our first month's experience with benefit claims has clearly demonstrated that every employee should have one, and only one Social Security account number," Executive Director Leon L. Wheeless said.

Maj. Birdsong Withdraws All Approvals

Major T. B. Birdsong, Jr., Commissioner of Public Safety, announces that he has today withdrawn all approvals, issued to manufacturers of lighting devices and of equipment, which approval was required by Senate Bill 132.

It has been discovered that there is some difficulty in the administration of certain sections of this alt and, therefore, no further approvals will be issued from the office of the Commissioner of Public Safety until further notice.

All interested persons are advised that no approvals are now in force. Persons or manufacturers stating that their equipment is or will be approved are guilty of gross misrepresentation.

Richard C. Fox, Jr., Age 54, Died Saturday, May 7

Mr. Fox Was a Successful Sunflower County Planter

Mr. Richard C. Fox, Jr., 54, died at his home in Sunflower Saturday, May 7, after an illness of more than two years.

Mr. Fox was a native of Duck Hill, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Fox, Sr. He had made his home in Sunflower for the past 25 years and was a very successful planter.

Funeral services, conducted by the pastor, were held at the Baptist Church in Sunflower, of which he was a member. Burial was from his parents home in Duck Hill Monday.

Besides his mother and father, Mr. Fox is survived by his wife, Montyne Moody Fox, and five children, R. C. Fox, III, George Yancy, Allen, Roy and Frances, a student of Belhaven College.

Statement From Congressman A. L. Ford On Natchez Trace Parkway Appropriations

Washington, D. C. May 6—Congressman A. L. Ford of Mississippi today issued the following statement in regard to House passage of the new Federal Aid Road Bill:

"It has been a distinct pleasure to support this legislation because of the real benefit which it intends to bring to states like Mississippi. Of particular interest in my District is the authorization carried in this bill for the appropriation of $10,000,000 in each of the years 1940 and 1941 for National Parkways, like the Natchez Trace. Since November, 1935 the Federal Government has specifically appropriated the sum of $4,500,000 for the Natchez Trace. In this connection it is gratifying to know that on yesterday the Senate passed my bill for the control and administration of the Natchez Trace Parkway. The House had already passed the bill, which puts the Natchez Trace operations on a permanent basis."

Chief Bear Heart Of Bacon College to Be At Camp Tallaha

Scouts Attending Will Have Opportunity to Learn Indian Dances and Craft Work

The center of activity at the Delta Council's Boy Scout Camp Tallaha this summer will be Indian-lore, it is announced today by George Simpson, chief Scout Executive who will have personal supervision of the camp and its movement.

Arrangements have been completed for Chief Bear Heart (Nokus Fee-ke) a full blood Creek Indian from Bacon College, Oklahoma, to be at Camp Tallaha during the entire five-week encampment [illegible] June 19th.

Tallaha this season will have opportunity to learn—first hand—the Indian dances and craft work.

There will be Indian camp fires, with Indian ceremonials and stories of Indian tradition and adventure.

Chief Bear Heart will also acquaint Boy Scouts of the Delta with Indian designs and their symbolic meaning, the origin of Indian songs and dances, the Indian religion and the Universal sign language.

Scout Executive Simpson, in announcing plans for the 1938 summer session at the camp situated in the hills near Charleston, Miss., stated that this year's program will be by far the most varied and complete in history of Tallaha.

J. D. Bice, Delta Area Council field executive, will serve as camp director, according to Mr. Simpson.

Other officials will include Jasper La Presto of Rosedale, director of activities and nature lore for the third consecutive year; Collier ("Totsy") Stewart of Charleston, in charge of craft work and a member of the official staff for the past six years; Delbert "Doc" Griffin of Lula, who will have supervision of the dining hall and will instruct in marksmanship; Charles Longino of Clarksdale, camp clerk for the third consecutive year; H. M. Stern of New Orleans, health and safety director.

Name of the waterfront director as well as other experts who will be members of the staff will be announced shortly. Camp officials are in touch with several of this section's most outstanding swimmers, life-guards and instructors.

Scoutmasters of the Delta will serve as leaders of their respective troops and will be included as official members of the camp staff.

The "troop plan" will be followed again this year, whereby troops of the council will attend in a body, and Scoutmasters will be given every assistance in the conduct of their troop program. There will be countless opportunities for troop projects, troop hikes, and troop instruction, all of which produces good troop camping.

The camp folder is being released this week to every registered Scout of the Delta. Those [illegible] a message for the parents as well. Scouts or parents not receiving a copy may write or call for same at the Delta Area Council headquarters, Clarksdale.

DROPPED DEAD AT NOXAPATER

LUTHER LATHAM

Hon. Luther Latham, of Eupora, member of the law firm of McKeigney & Latham, of Eupora, and candidate for circuit judge of the Fifth Judicial District, dropped dead in Noxapater Thursday morning around ten o'clock as the result of a heart attack.

Mr. Latham served in the State Senate, filling out the unexpired term of W. R. Scott, from 1928 to 1932, and was instrumental in aiding the passage of many measures of benefit to the people of his district. In 1909 he was named by Congressman T. U. Sisson as his private secretary, and remained in Washington for two years. In 1911 he resigned his position and returned to Mississippi to enter Cumberland Law School from which he was graduated in June 1912. He took the bar examination at that time and was admitted to practice of law in November of that year. The following year he entered into partnership with A. F. McKeigney of Eupora, and that association had not been broken. At the time of his death, Senator Latham was president of the Eupora Consolidated School District.

Senator Latham is survived by his wife, a son, James Morris, law student at the University, and a daughter, Margaret, member of the 1938 graduating class of the Eupora High School.

At the time we go to press funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Grenada Hi School Band Entertains Rotarians Tuesday

Band Director Roger Dollarhide and Mrs. Dollarhide Guests At Luncheon

Members of Grenada Band appeared on the program during the regular luncheon hour of the Grenada Rotary Club at the Community House on Tuesday of this week.

Charlie Calloway, who received "excellent" rating at the State Band Contest, recently held in Jackson, rendered a flute solo and was highly applauded.

The Sextette brass ensemble and quartette clarinet ensemble, also rated "excellent," were on the program and their renditions were thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Mr. Dollarhide said that the judges at the state meeting unofficially declared Charlie Calloway the best flute soloist at the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Dollarhide were guests of the club.

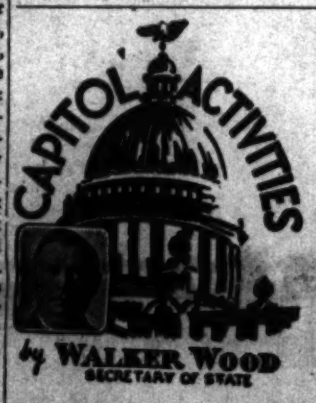
Hon. A. L. Ford Announces For Reelection

To The People of The Fourth Congressional District:

In announcing as a candidate for re-election to Congress, I assure you of my sincere gratitude for your past confidence in me, and I earnestly seek your active support in the approaching campaign. My every effort has always been directed toward the best possible service for you, individually and collectively, and I am glad to stand on that record of service which is well known to all of you. Immediately upon adjournment of Congress I shall return home for the purpose of seeing you, visiting with you, rendering any possible service to you, and to begin an active campaign.

Gratefully your friend,
(Political Advertisement) A. L. FORD.



Governor White has appointed Mr. H. M. Morse, of Oxford and the University as State Oil and Gas Supervisor, to succeed Mr. Henry N. Toler, who has been at the head of the Oil and Gas department in the New Capitol for the past three years. Mr. Toler tendered his resignation several days ago to accept a more lucrative position as chief geologist for the Southern Natural Gas Corporation. During his service as Oil and Gas Supervisor, Mr. Toler has made numemous friends who are glad that he and his interesting family are to remain in Jackson.

Mr. Morse, his successor, is a member of the faculty of the University, and was formerly assistant state geologist with the late Dr. E. N. Lowe. He is a brother of Hon. W. E. Morse, attorney for the City of Jackson. He has a family, and it is understood that he will move his family here, as early as the schools close.

The Mississippi Advertising Commission is issuing a number of copies of Governor White's address before the National Chemurgic Conference at Omaha, Nebraska, last week. The chief executive's address was a master piece of advertising for the industrial and agricultural interests of the old Magnolia State and no better advertising could be given the State than that contained in this pamphlet.

The first regular meeting of the new Public Service Commission, authorized and created by the provisions of Senate Bill 362, was held at the New Capitol last week. This Commission succeeds the old Mississippi Railroad Commission, with a greatly enlarged scope of duties and responsibilities. Under the new organization, Commissioner Dillard Brown, of Tupelo, is chairman, the former railroad commissioners being retained as Public Service Commissioners as provided by the law.

J. W. Williams, who has served as rate expert since the resignation of M. C. Moore several months ago, will return to his former position of Mississippi supervisor for the Interstate Commerce Commission, and will be succeeded by Mr. Floyd Gillis, of Meridian, whose assistant will be T. P. Ramsey, of Hattiesburg.

Jeff D. Miller, who for the last two years has served as secretary of the Railroad Commission, will continue as secretary of the Public Service Commission, having as his assistant secretary, Miss Lillian Runnels, who has held a place in the railroad commission for a number of years. There will also be a court stenographer, and three other stenographers appointed later.

Six state highway projects of paving will be awarded by the Highway Commission on May 24th, according to announcement made on Wednesday. The six projects will aggregate $1,800,000, and will include 25 miles of paving on Mississippi No. 6, 20.4 miles of paving on U. S. 78, 28 miles on Mississippi 23 and 25, roadside improvement in Marshall county; a bridge on U. S. 80 in Lauderdale county, and paving on No. 11 in Hattiesburg.

An organization in the State of Mississippi that is probably more closely identified with and takes a decided and effective interest in all state affairs is that of the Mississippi Travelers Association, composed not only of commercial travelers exclusively, but in addition thereto, of business men over the State. By means of their facilities for contacting people here and there over the State, the Travelers are an important factor in the State, and its president for this year, Major H. W. Clift, of Meridian, advises that the annual convention of this body will be held in Meridian on Friday and Saturday, June 3rd and 4th, the meeting place being the Hotel Lamar of that city.

On Friday evening a banquet will be enjoyed, followed by a dance and floor show, at the Lamar. On Saturday morning a second business meeting will be held, at the close of which officers will be elected to serve for the ensuing year. In the afternoon of the second day a barbecue will be enjoyed.

The State Land Office was opened on Monday, May 2nd, for the issuance of patents only to former land owners who had lost their property through tax forfeiture. The term "Land-owner," or "Original Land-owner" will mean the man of woman who has actually lost their land to the State, according to the Governor's statement.

The Land Office has been closed now, for about two years. In referring to the opening of the office, the Governor said, there will be no need for a rush to the land office, as the procedure will be slow, and in many instances investigations will be necessary before the price is agreed on.

Advance Acts No. 15, recently issued by the Secretary of State, and sent out to the members of the legislature and the chancery clerks as provided by law, contains 26 general laws, enacted by the 1938 Legislative session, and for the most part, these 26 laws deal with school matters, while a few of them are devoted to judicial matters, to-wit: divorce laws, jury selections, qualifications, etc.

Senate Bill 72, amends Chapter 193 of the Laws of 1932, raises the salaries of the county surperintendents in the counties of each class, as follows: Classes 1 and 2—raised from $2880 to $3000; classes 3 and 4 from $2400 to $2750; class 5 from $2200 to $2500, and classes 6, 7 and 8 from $2000 to $2400. In this law, provision is made that in counties of 80,000 or more population the superintendent shall receive a salary of $3300.

Senate Bill No. 73 prescribes the qualifications of a county superintendent as follows: That for the term beginning in January, 1940, he must not only have the qualifications of being a citizen of the state for four years and of the county for two years, but must have had not less than two years training in an approved institution, and have had not less than two eyars experience as county superintendent, supervisor, school superintendent or teacher in the public schools, or in lieu of either of the foregoing, he must have had not less than four years of college training in an approved institution.

House Bill 757 amends Section 6664 of the Code of 1930, so as to provide that a majority of the trustees of a separate school district shall be patrons of the school. Provision is also made that they must be bona fide residents of the district and qualified electors of the district; and a member of the municipal governing board shall not be eligible for the office of trustee.

House Bill 650 provides that any municipality having a population of 2000 or more, may, in its discretion, rent, lease, purchase or construct a building or buildings for nursery schools, and equip such buildings at a total expense of not exceeding $5000, for care, training, and education of children of pre-school age. Provisions is also made as to how this shall be accomplished.

House Bill No. 440 amends Chapter 256 of the Laws of 1936 to raise and fix the per diem compensation of members of county school boards at $4.00 for each day's service, to be paid as teachers' salaries are paid, not to exceed 25 days service in any one year. The former rate was $3.00, with a limit of twenty days for the year.

MISSISSIPPI GARDENERS BATTLING INSECT PESTS

State College, Miss., May 11—Mississippi gardeners who are battling insect pests will find valuable information on garden insects and their control in Extension Poster No. 3, just issued by the Mississippi Extension Service.

The poster lists the different varieties of vegetables, the insects which attack them, and outlines control measures.

The injurious insects named include bean leaf beetle, Mexican bean beetle, beet web worms, plant lice, Harlequin cabbage bug, cutworm, vegetable weevil, striped cucumber beetle, twelve-spotted cucumber beetle, pickle worm, flea beetle, potato beetle, green worms, pea weevil, stink bug, and squash bug.

Control measures recommended include Derris dust or spray, Paris green and lime, nicotine sulphate, poison bran, calcium or lead arsenate, hand picking, and Bordeaux mixture.

Copies of the poster may be obtained upon request to county farm and home demonstration agents or the state extension service.

Miss Maggie Mae Wright Weds Sunday

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Provine was the scene of a wedding Sunday afternoon when their niece, Maggie Mae Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Wright, of the Oaks Plantation, near Calhoun City, became the bride of James Paul Bolton, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Bolton, of Water Valley, and Corinth.

The place of ceremony in the living room was marked by an improvised altar of Southern smilax, white tapers, and floor baskets of pink roses. Rev. W. C. Howard, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Water Valley, said the double ring service in the presence of members of the two families and a few intimate friends of the bride and groom.

Preceding the ceremony, musical selections were played by Mr. Cecil Bolton, brother of the bride-groom. Among them were "Because", "Dawning", and the Wedding March by Wagner. Mr. Carl Johnston, Jr., of University, Miss., sang "Oh Promise Me", and "I Love You Truly".

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, J. F. Provine, chose a powder blue costume suit, with a dusty rose blouse, and British tan accessories, and a shoulder corsage of Talisman roses and lilies of the valley. Later when she and Mr. Bolton made their departure she topped her suit with a coat of rose imported tweed. Mrs. Rice E. Pressgrove, of Grenada, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a British gown with white trim, and a corsage of white rose buds and sweet peas.

Rice E. Pressgrove, of Grenada, attended the bride-groom as best man. Little Miss Florice Ann Pressgrove, niece of the bride, was ring bearer. She was gowned in blue taffeta with arm corsage of sweet peas.

Immediately following the ceremony, the happy couple left for Jackson, where the groom is connected with the Mississippi Highway Department as Draftsman.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Carl Boland with Carl, Jr., of Big Creek; Messrs. Cecil Bolton and Carl Johnston, Jr., of the University; Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Provine, Mrs. Pearl Provine and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. West, of Grenada; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Wright, and Mr. J. P. Wright, of Big Creek, and Mrs. Pearl P. Bailey, of Coffeeville. — Coffeeville Courier, May 6, 1938.

M. D. Broadfoot Passes Away

(By J. S. Vandiver)

The State Department of Education was shocked Wednesday by the sad news of the death of Mr. M. D. Broadfoot, who for sixteen years has been Supervisor of Trade and Industrial Education in the State Department of Education.

Mr. Broadfoot, through his wide experience with all types of schools in the state and his deep sympathy for those young people who are struggling to adjust themselves to their educational program, has made a great contribution to the practical aspect of the educational program in Mississippi. He believed in a high standard of training for the young people who took work in those departments sponsored by him. He emphasized cultural and character training as well as the development of skills in these departments.

As he worked among us in his quiet unassuming way he won the affection of all with whom he came into contact. The administration of his department attracted the attention of workers in other southern states who frequently called upon him for counsel and advice.

He has been called home to render an account of his stewardship. He has left a vacant chair around the counsel table. We shall cherish his memory with love and respect.

SAFETY

The Grenada County Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring safety activities in Grenada county under the personal supervision of Capt. W. T. Webb, Safety Counsellor.

This safety expert does not believe in balahoo but feels sure that with concerted effort much can be attained toward safety in Grenada and Grenada county.

Beginning in the schools, taking class by class, each student is personally instructed in a practical way to avoid accidents on the highways and city streets.

Captain Webb will be at the Elementary Schools Friday and parents are cordially invited to visit and listen to the lecture.

OFFICIAL ORGAN OF GRENADA COUNTY AND CITY OF GRENADA

PUT GRENADA TO WORK FIRST

We have noticed quite a bit of construction work going on in Grenada in the past several months and, it makes us feel good. But it doesn't make us feel good to see imported skilled laborers doing the work. Grenada has a number of skilled workers in all lines of work, carpenters, painters, brick masons, plasterers, etc., and it seems to us that they should be given preference. They spend their money here and contribute toward the support of this community and are entitled to work when there is work to be done.

It would seem that Grenadians would be leary about awarding contracts to outsiders, especially after the "white elephant" the city got into a construction job completed the early part of the year.

TAXPAYERS SAY "NO!"

Out of the blue, the Carlton County, Minnesota, local of the Communist-inspired Workers' Alliance, a so-called "union" of those on relief, collected at the county courthouse and attempted by force to compel the commissioners to consider higher relief grants. One commissioner was refused "permission" to leave the commissioners' meeting and had to resign in order to leave the building.

The Board of Commissioners, however, decided not to tolerate such tactics and called upon the taxpayers to voice their sentiments. They did voice them loudly. Armed with petitions from several thousand taxpayers who could not attend, 1,200 citizens met at the courthouse—some even standing outside in the rain—and told the Commissioners what they thought about increased relief grants which would mean increased taxes.

And what they told the Commissioners in no uncertain terms was—NO!

A CONTINUOUS SAFETY CAMPAIGN

What Grenada needs is a safety campaign conducted every day in the year. Safety should be preached daily in our schools, by our officers and every thinking citizen. Let safety be the watch word. Let our citizenship awake to what honest, careful and prudent enforcement of our traffic laws will mean. It will mean, in the main, that mothers can send their children to school, to town or elsewhere, and rest at home in peace in the confidence that they will return home safely. Sooner or later some child or grown-up is going to be killed or maimed for life if we don't wake up. Then it will be TOO LATE for all concerned, directly or indirectly.

In the enforcement of our laws, and particularly one that has so many angles as our traffic laws, there needs to be common sense and even more intuition.

We were sitting at our desk here in the office one night a few weeks ago when a car passed going south on Main Street at a high rate of speed. The roar of the motor attracted our attention, so we went out to the street to observe. While we would not get on the witness stand and swear to the speed, we conservatively estimate the machine had obtained a speed of between 65 and 70 miles an hour by the time it had passed the Grenada College. We continued to hear the roar of the motor for 75 to 90 seconds after it passed our office. However, we don't blame the officers for not making an arrest. They can't be in two places at the same time and, had they been on hand, pursuit would have availed nothing, for they could not have overtaken the speeding machine.

A habitual speeder or wreckless driver should be handled by the courts. But in many instances wise and timely words from an officer will serve best the purpose. The wreckless driver, who disregards admonitions and persists in speeding, should be hailed before the courts.

We are working under the same speed limit in the city that we were during the horse and buggy days - 15 miles per hour in the residential district. The limit could be raised and driving would still be safe with a prudent driver at the wheel.

Some good ladies were in to see us a few days ago and asked that we have something to say about speeding in Grenada. They had their own as well as everybody's children in mind.

You can't blame the officers. As it is now, if they put the lid on good and tight, SOMEBODY IS GOING TO GET FIRED. We recommend common sense enforcement of our traffic laws, installation of a few stoplights at hazardous intersections, cooperation of the public with the officers and a continuous campaign of drive safely. Our Parent Teachers Association, the Rotary Club, Lions Club, Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations can do much to bring about these things.

HERE ARE SOME GOOD RULES FOR SAFE DRIVING

—TRY THEM YOURSELF

1. Always keep your eye on the roadway ahead of you . . . the cost of inattention FOR ONE FRACTION OF A SECOND might be a life.
2. Never take for granted that "the other fellow" is going to clear the roadway for you . . . he might fool you at YOUR EXPENSE.
3. Be sure ALWAYS to keep your car under complete control . . . The loss of control for one moment might send someone into eternity.
4. Do not speed unless you know that the roadway is clear. High speed has caused many an unexpected death.
5. Never drive an automobile unless you know that it is in a safe operating condition. You can never tell when you will have to cope with an emergency.
6. If you MUST drive with one hand, make sure that your mind does not become too engrossed in what the other hand is doing. It might be safer to park or sit in the parlor.
7. Do not attempt to cut in and out of traffic. Many others have tried it already and failed.
8. When making a turn, be sure first to signal properly. It is dangerous to neglect to let the other fellow know what you expect to do, and let him know in time. There is no need to signal after you have turned.
9. If you value your life or the lives of others, always sound your horn loudly BEFORE passing another car, for the other driver might suddenly decide to move over to the left side of the road.
10. Do not expect the other fellow to read your mind. Few automobile drivers are mind readers.
11. Form and keep the habit of glancing into your mirror at least every few seconds, and thereby be sure that you know what is behind you at all times.
12. Never use your clutch ahead of your brakes, for to do so will increase the danger of skidding.
13. Be careful around schools, corners, curves, railroad crossings, underpasses and on straightways. Remember, Old Man Carelessness causes most accidents.
14. Have a reliable mechanic COMPLETELY check your car every 1,000 miles; or once a month. This is a good investment on your life and car too.
15. If you cannot resist the temptation to drive on the left side of the road (as many drivers do), it will be far safer for you to turn around and go in the opposite direction. Roads are not usually wide enough for automobiles to travel in both direction on the left side.
16. Do not try to mix alcohol and gasoline. Many others have already tried it and found that they will not mix even if Congress did take the danger out of the alcohol. DRUNKEN DRIVER accidents have increased.
17. Never drive out into any main road or street without first stopping and making sure that the way is clear. It is many times better to use your brakes than to depend too much upon your horn.
18. Learn to gauge the speed of the car you are meeting before trying to pass another car going in your direction and thereby prevent a three-way accident.

Child Health Day Radio Talk

(By King and Queen.)

King
Dear Loyal Subjects:-

I, Kirl Avent, King of Health, am greatful for the honor bestowed upon me, and am glad of the opportunity to tell you that the way to stay on the road to health is to observe the health rules daily. Health and happiness go hand in hand, and I am very anxious for my subjects to be happy.

I command you to let every day be Child Health Day, and in so doing develop a strong nation ready to meet any emergency. Ever keep in mind the slogan, "Speed Our Children on the Road to Health".

And now, loyal subjects, I should like to present to you my Queen, Her Royal Highness, Margaret Green.

Ladies and Gentlemen, My dear loyal subjects:.

I, Margaret Green am happy to be speaking to you this most important of days, Child Health Day.

It is my wish that every day be Child Health Day in your homes and I command you, my subjects, to keep the health rules.

I promise to keep the health rules throughout my reign and as long after it as it is in my power to do so.

Let this be our motto:

Some work for honor,
Others for health,
In Grenada City Schools,
We all desire good health.
I Thank You.

NOTICE TO WATER CONSUMERS

In order to encourage Grenadians to water their gardens and flowers during the summer months, the Mayor and Board of Aldermen offer a rate reduction on bills payable July 1 to October 1 inclusive.

Your bill payable June 1 and covering water consumed for the period April 20 to May 20, will be the governing factor. Your bill payable July 1, August 1, September 1 and October 1, will not exceed your bill payable June 1 and covering water consumed for the period April 20 to May 20. If any of your bills for these four months reflect that you consumed less water than you did for the period April 20 to May 20, you will be billed for the water actually consumed.

This rate concession applies to domestic customers only.

25 YEARS AGO IN GRENADA

Mr. R. Bailey made a business trip to Jackson Monday.

Masters George Garner and John Hughes are at home from Bell Buckle College.

Mrs. D. L. Bingham and little daughter, of Carrollton, are guests of relatives in Grenada.

Judge W. A. Roane, of Atlanta, has been the guest this week of his brother, Judge A. T. Roane.

Children's Day will be observed by the Methodist Church at Tie Plant next Sunday, May 18. Everybody invited.

Mrs. J. W. Wood and two interesting little boys of the Oxberry community, were guests of relatives in Grenada several days last week.

A fishing party, made up of Dr. J. Sydney Sharp, R. W. Sharp, J. A. and A. G. Roane, Dr. B. C. James and Judge W. A. Roane, of Atlanta, spent a few days on Tippo this week.

Prof. Hall of the public school attended the high school meet at the University last week, and was accompanied by a number of his students, all of whom were much pleased with the University.

FLASH

An esteemed member of the Grenada Fishing Fraternity went fishing Wednesday afternoon of this week. After fishing only five minutes, he fell out of the boat, claiming that a fish that he had hooked yanked him out. When he reached the bank, the fish that was guilty of the crime, was not to be seen.

We are not naming the fisherman, but we think that he lives on "Lying Street" in Grenada. His initials are W. P. T.

Gore Springs News

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Homer Trussell had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Peeples, Mr. and Mrs. Jim O'Brien and Mrs. Floyd, of Grenada.

Mr. Gaines Moore, of Oxford, Mr. Frank Moore, of Jackson, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Moore and two children, Miss Mary Louise and Lewis, Jr., of Tie Plant, were happy guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Moore and mother, Mrs. Ellen Moore.

Mrs. J. B. Dayton, of Greenwood, added her presence to the home of her mother, Mrs. Belle Trussell, through the week-end.

Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Gillon, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gillon of the delta, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tyner and three children, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Clanton and two children, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Gillon, Mr. and Mrs. Howard James and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Williams and four children, Mrs. Annie Tharpe, all gathered and enjoyed with them a real picnic dinner which was spread near the spring under the beautiful shade trees.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Williams were guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Tucker Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Cooley, of Grenada, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Chamberlain Sunday.

Summer Time Brings Ants

Ants like sweet foods especially, such as sugar, cakes, and candies, and cooked meats or meat products. The Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, which has made extensive studies of the ways of ants and methods of preventing annoyance from them, explains that if a foraging or scout ant locates food of these kinds, it reports its discovery to the ant colony. In an incredibly short time the storage place may be swarming with unwelcome visitors.

If the nest can be located by following the trail of the workers back to the point of their disappearance, the inmates of the nest or colony may be reached and destroyed. If the nest is not in a place where a fire hazard would be created, the ants may be destroyed by injecting a little carbon bisulphide, kerosene, or gasoline into the opening by means of an oil can or small syringe. These substances are all inflammable. Precautions should be taken to see that no fire is lighted where they are used.

Tried and proved prevention methods are to keep food supplies likely to attract ants in tight containers or in the refrigerator, sweep up promptly any crumbs of cake or bread scattered in the house.

Poison baits can also be used to kill the queens and the brood. Sugar syrup containing sodium arsenate, benzoate of soda, and tartaric acid is an effective bait. If used out-of-doors it should be placed in small containers and put near the place where ants occur in large numbers. If used indoors, small amounts can be placed in the trail of the ants on sponges. Precaution should be taken to safeguard human beings and animals when poisoned syrups are being used, prepared, or kept on hand.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY COTTON INSECT REPORT

State College, Miss., May 9—No boll weevils have yet been reported in cotton fields in Mississippi, advises the State Plant Board. A rather heavy population went into hibernation last fall and prospects are that weevils will be much more numerous than in the spring of 1937, since the winter was not unusually severe.

Cotton fleahoppers are not expected to be any more abundant than last year, if as numerous, for the supply of croton or goatweed in which they pass the winter in the egg stage, was not as great last fall as in the fall of 1936.

The variegated cutworm is causing some damage in the Delta on cotton planted near alfalfa or after burr clover, vetch, or other winter cover crops but the injury is small in nearly all cases where planting was delayed two to three weeks after the winter crop was turned under.

The most threatening news, according to Dr. Clay Lyle, Entomologist of the Board, was the finding of a cotton leafworm about one-third grown on May 2 in Calhoun county, Texas, by K. P. Ewing of the United States Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine. This is 25 days earlier than the worms appeared in 1937, and with one exception, is the earlist date the worms have ever been recorded in the United States.

Observation on cotton insect conditions will be made by State Plant Board inspectors throughout the summer in connection with their other work on insect and plant disease control. Anyone desiring information about the control of pests on cotton or other crops should address the State Plant Board at State College, Miss.

Colored Column

A Good Colored Citizen Passes

Funeral services, conducted by Rev. A. L. Hill, Pastor of Belflower Baptist Church, were held Wednesday afternoon for one of Grenada's many worthy colored citizens in the person of Granville Walston. He was 85 years old.

Granville was well thought of by both white and colored and had lived a good and useful life. For thirty-five years he was an employee of Mr. J. R. Garner, who passed away several years ago. After the death of Mr. Garner, he became an employee of the City Lumber Company, where he remained until ill health forced his retirement.

Granville was a member of the Belflower Baptist Church and lived a Christian life. He has gone on to that place prepared for him, and will be missed in Grenada.

COLUMBUS INGRAM DIED WEDNESDAY

Columbus Ingram, colored, son of Randolph and Mollie Ingram, of Holcomb, died Wednesday, May 11, at 1:45 p. m. at State Hospital at Whitfield. He was 29 years old. He was a member of the New Hope A. M. E. Church, Parsons.

Funeral services will be held at Tuscohoma A. M. E. Church Sunday, May 15.

"Show Must Go On" Coming To Grenada Monday, May 16th

Chicago Follies To Give One Performance Under Their Tent Theater

"The Show Must Go On" no matter what happens is an old legend of the show business and the members of the cast of Ches Davis 1938 Chicago Follies were recently forced to live up to the ancient tradition.

As unobtrusively as he had lived through the twenty-five years as master of properties for Ches Davis of the Chicago Follies, Oscar Black slipped silently into the shadows a few days since at Port Gibson, Miss. A genial, smiling, modest self-effacing little gentleman, Oscar Black had gone about his work for years in the same methodical manner. He neither sought nor expected praise for his work, and was ever his most severe critics. Nothing less than perfection in having everything in its place ready for each act satisfied him.

Oscar was a great trouper, beloved by all who came in contact with him. He never held any other position save that of master of the show properties and seemingly he did not care for any other line of work. The orbit in which he moved was his daily life under the big tent, and to his work and his troupe he gave wholesouled consecration and unswerving devotion. He took no part in dressing-room politics or gossip. He never spoke unkindly of any fellow-being, and none spoke unkindly of him.

Neither great or famous was Oscar Black—his name never appeared in the newspapers nor on the program. He cared not and sought not for roars of applause or the wild cheers of the audience. He was contented to do his work well and to hold the approval of those with whom he lived and worked. That he had in full measure, and he will be loved and remembered by his fellow troupers when many stars of today are long forgotten. Oscar Black played well his part and many times he lived up, himself, to the old tradition, "the show must go on."

In the 1938 version of the Chicago Follies Ches Davis has surrounded himself with the finest talent obtainable. Among the features presented are: The Littlejohn, a recent importation from Australia. Over a million rhinestones are used in the scenery and costumes for this act; Boone & Taft, a glamorous girl and a handsome youth, who have no peers as precision tap dancers; The Owen Triplets, real sister triplets just nineteen years of age, who sing Southern melodies as only girls born in the South can sing them; the Famous Follies Beauty Chorus of 24 shapely girls; Phil Lopez, famed pantomimist, who convulses his audience with laughter although he does not utter a word during his entire act; The Prairie Homesteaders, a real cowboy band who do not sing "Coming Round the Mountain," but who do sing and play classical and popular music in such a manner that it lingers in the memories of those who hear them; Senorita Carlotta, the queen of all rhumba dancers, who stops the show with her rhumba number ;the Original Dixie Swing Band, truly the hottest band in Dixie; Bert Sothern, original Pop Eye comedian, and—Col. Ches Davis, himself, the undisputed king of all black-faced comedians.

The Chicago Follies will give but one performance in Grenada—under their mammoth waterproof tent theater, Monday night, May 16th, starting at 8 o'clock.

Riverdale H. D. Club Met May 5th

The Riverdale Home Demonstration Club met May 5th at the home of Mrs. Claude Perry with Mrs. Ernest Bets and Mrs. Sally Irby as co-hostesses. There were 13 members and two visitors present. The meeting opened with the singing of "Southern Memories."

Mrs. J. L. Cooley read an article "Mother O' Mine," by George Matthew Adams. Miss Wood, the home demonstration agent gave demonstrations on making hooked rugs and weaving chair bottoms. She also distributed embroidery and applique patterns. The hostesses served delicious sherbet and sandwiches. The meeting closed with the reading of the club collect. The June meeting will be held with Mesdames Georgia Staten and Lizzie Lamar.

More, Better And Safer Roads

Washington, D. C. May 11—More, better and safer roads for the 29,000,000 highway users of the nation were provided for on May 6, as the United States House of Representatives passed the new Cartwright Road Bill. This bill authorizes the expenditure of $238,000,000 by the federal government for highways during the fiscal year 1940 and the same amount for the fiscal year 1941. Congressman Wilburn Cartwright of Oklahoma, sponsor of the bill and chairman of the House Roads Committee, was highly enthusiastic over the success of the highway legislation.

Charles M. Upham, engineer-director, American Road Builders' Association, was interviewed in his Washington, D. C., offices shortly after passage of the road bill. He declared, "This is indeed a red-letter day for the American motorist. Continuation of federal aid for highways through the fiscal years 1940 and 1941 will make possible the modern construction of much-needed safe highways in all the forthy-eight states. It will help considerably to diminish the appalling number of annual traffic accident fatalities. All of us who are really interested in the welfare of the people of this nation have just cause to be grateful to the House members responsible for the passage of this bill."

Members of the House Roads Committee who figured prominently in the passage of the Cartwright Road Bill were Congressmen Lindsay C. Warren, North Carolina; Will M. Whittington, Mississippi; Thomas O'Malley, Wisconsin; J. W. Robinson, Utah; Jennings Randolph, West Virginia; Robert T. Secrest, Ohio; John L. McClellan, Arkansas; Nat Patton, Texas; Orville Zimmerman, Missouri; Beverly M. Vincent, Kentucky; Alfred J. Elliott, California; Jesse P. Wolcott, Michigan; James W. Mott, Oregon; Bert Lord, New York; Karl Stefan, Nebraska; and Cassius C. Dowell, Iowa.

Swat The Fly

Now is the time for all good housewives to prepare to greet the first spring arrivals of the house fly hordes, says the state's entomologists.

A swat in time will save, not nine, but possibly billions, say the entomologists ,for every fly not killede in early spring is likely to become the ancestor of countless others.

Flies thrive on filth; any decaying vegetable or animal matter in your vicinity will attract flies malin with a pint of milk or watheir future generations. Clean up all filth and you will have less flies.

In its search for food the adult fly is invariably attracted to the house. Its keen sense of smell directs it to any exposed food. Between its forays to the kitchen and the dining room it often goes back to the garbage heap where thousands of germs may be picked up and transported to the house and onto exposed food. The fly may even leave a few hundred of its many germs as it crawls over a person's hands or face.

Flies that gain entrance to the house in spite of good screens and clean yards can be poisoned in wholesale lots with a concoction made at home by mixing three tablespoonsful of commercial formalin wiht a pint of milk or water and a little brown sugar. This mixture should be placed in saucers around the room after all other liquids have been removed. A speedy way to attract the flies to this poison is to darken the room except for one window on which a saucer of the poison is placed.

Spraying the house in summer is becoming a popular indoor sport. Before spraying, all doors and windows should be closed for five to ten minutes while the room is filled with the fine spray of the insecticide. Later the fallen insects should be swept up and destroyed. Care should be taken not to use any fly sprays near flames.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By Ray Walter JOHNSON and PIERCE

Washington, D. C. May 11—No sensational announcement ever caused less of a sensation than the news of the new Lafollette party. A full ultra-conservative Republicans and Democrats were momentarily cheered at the prospect of the liberals being busted wide open until it appeared that the liberals of the east, at least, were unimpressed and unenthusiastic. It is the consensus of opinion of the older political observers that the new Farmer-Labor group will be ninety-nine percent farm and one percent labor. The interests of the workers and the ruralists may be identical but any effective coalition of them will be the result of following a strong leader rather than any worked out plan of cooperation.

From now on until the end of September state primary battles will be constantly in the news and will not only provide a yardstick for the relative strength of the G. O. P. and the Democrats but will measure the percentage of strength of the New Deal in its own party. Six of the states hold their primaries in May and in one of these, Florida, a decision has already been given showing surprising New Deal strength. Pennsylvania will have a cat and dog fight but here, the very fact that nearly six months will elapse before election may tend to heal wounds if not scars.

June has five primary dates and July three—none of vital importance. But August with fourteen and September with fifteen may provide last minute upsets quite unforseen now.

A situation which will certainly prove embarrassing to the President and the Democrats in and near New York is the so-called "Hitler-Hague" rule of Jersey City where the issue of free speech, kidnaping, persecution and violation of all and sundry constitutional rights is being charged against the Jersey mayor by labor and liberals of all shades and parties. The growing bitterness directed at the administration because of its failure to wash its hands of Hague, and resentment at the New Deal senators who acquiesced in the seating of Hague's man, without injury.

Milton, in the senate, may swing votes to the G. O. P. in both New Jersey and in lower New York State.

And the final word on the European situation seems to be that any rumors of a break or even a difference of opinion between Hitler and Mussolini are purely the result of wishful thinking. Both Italy and Germany have aims so diametrically opposed to the interests of France in Europe and to the interests of England and France in Africa that it is difficult to see any possible chance of either sacrificing the present Rome-Berlin axis for the doubtful benefits of an Anglo-French alliance.

Worries Over Loss of Hat More Than Car

Mr. Sam Simmons, so it is said, worried about losing his hat when his car burned in his garage one night last week more than he did the car. But rumor hath it that someone had wrapped $40.00 in a handkerchief and hid it in the car a few hours before it burned. Hiding it from his wife. Who was the man? It wasn't Mr. Simmons.

The car or money was not insured.

Some Of The Common Diseases and Parasites Of Poultry and Treatment Of Same

(By Lottie Wood, H. D. Agent)

MITES: A blood sucking parasite found in the cracks and crevices on perch poles in poultry houses, infesting the birds at night. Clean out and spray the interior of the nests and roosts with crude carbolic and kerosene (1:8) or some of the coal tar preparations. Follow by painting the roosts and nests with Carbolineum or Creowood Oil. Use cylinder oil and kerosene mixed 50-50 makes a good spray.

LICE: External parasites living upon the skin surface of the body. Nicotine Sulphate (Black Leaf 40). Part the feathers on each side of the bird's body under the wings, and also below the vent, and place one drop of Black Leaf 40 next to the skin, at each of these points. Sodium Flouride—Use this as a dust or dip. When used as a dust, hold the bird with head down and place a pinch of the material in the feathers of the thighs, below the vent, each side of back and breast and around the head and neck. When used as a dip, mix one ounce to the gallon of water. (Never dip the birds except on warm sunny days). In efficiency the dip method compares with the Nicotine Sulphate treatment.

SCALY LEG MITE: A mite that causes the piling up of scales on the legs and toes of birds sometimes called foot mange or scabies. Dip the shanks in a mixture of crude oil and raw linseed oil, equal parts. (Do not let mixture come in contact with the skin above the shanks). An ointment made of one-part oil of caraway and five parts of white vaseline mixed and rubbed in every few days, until the trouble disappears. Dipping the shanks in kerosene is also effective.

STICK TIGHT FLEAS: Fleas that bury themselves in the upper layer of the skin and remain in one position. They are hard to remove, hence the name "stick tight." Usually found on the head, neck and under the wings especially on young chicks.

Thoroughly spray the house with crude carbolic and kerosene (1.3), for treatment of birds, mix a small quantity of sulphur with vaseline or lard and apply to heads of birds. Neck and head of bird may be saturated in gasoline, being careful not to get the gasoline in the eyes.

State Farm Leaders Organize Effort For World Poultry Show

Aggressive Campaign for Full Participation to Secure Dual Benefits: Advertising, Commercial Poultry Industry.

Completing organization for state-wide effort for participation in the Seventh World's Poultry Congress and Exposition to be held next summer in Cleveland, Ohio, the Mississippi Committee has enlisted and is continuing to enlist leadership in many walks of life.

Governor Hugh White was elected permanent honorary chairman, and Lieutenant - Governor Billy Mayer, vice-chairman, both by acclamation, at a meeting of the Committee held at State College for the purpose of effecting a permanent and comprehensive organization.

J. C. Holton, commissioner of agriculture, was re-affirmed as chairman, along with vice-chairman L. M. Drumm, Hattiesburg hatcheryman and president of the Mississippi Poultry Producer's Association. R. H. Lampkin, Starkville hatcheryman, and chairman of the Mississippi Poultry Council, was named treasurer.

Sub-committee chairmen selected include V. G. Humphreys, Ocean Springs bank official and president of the Gulf Coast Poultry Producer's Association, Ways and Means; G. R. Sipe, poultry husbandman, Mississippi State College, Exhibit; Mrs. H. B. Watson, poultry breeder, Strongs, Membership and Attendance; Ed Lipscomb, Director Mississippi Advertising Commission, Publicity and Speaker's Bureau; E. P. McNeil, secretary of the Meridian Chamber of Commerce, Tours; Tom Bailey, Meridian attorney and law-maker, Entertainment and Reception.

The Executive Committee, comprised of active officers and committee chairmen, is to meet at an early date to enlist further aid and support while completing sub-committee memberships. One of the first objectives of the organization will be that of securing Mississippi's quota of 1,000 Associate Memberships which carry admission to the exposition at all times.

"The Seventh World's Poultry Congress and Exposition is truly an international affair," commented Commissioner Holton. "It comes to America for the first time after previous sessions in Holland, Spain, Canada, Italy, and Germany. About 65 countries will be officially represented. There will be acres of exhibits and attendance will likely pass the million mark. Our participation will mean national advertising and the further advancement of poultry as an important cash crop on state farms."

Feed Formulas For Poultry

(By Lottie Wood, H. D. Agent)

Since protein supplements have become popular with poultrymen, and since there is a lack of uniformity in recommendations as to feeding the supplements, I offer the following formulas as recommended by the College Poultry Department. These recommendations are not to supplant any recommendations of feed manufacturers.

All Mash Summer Feeding For Hens

100 pounds 32% protein supplement.
25 pounds corn meal.
100 pounds wheat shorts.
2½ pounds salt.

Mash For Baby Chicks For First Eight Weeks

100 pounds 32% protein supplement.
200 pounds corn meal.
100 pounds wheat shorts.
50 pounds dried milk.
6 pounds oyster shell.
3 pounds salt.

Growing Stock

100 pounds 32% protein supplement.
300 pounds corn meal.
100 pounds wheat shorts.
50 pounds dried milk.
8 pounds fine oyster shell.
4 pounds salt.

FDA Group Offers Its Services To Farmers

Farmers in this county who are facing the possibility of foreclosure or impairment of assets from indebtedness were invited today to confer with the Grenada county farm debt adjustment committee when it meets at Grenada, Thursday, May 19 in the FSA office. The meeting will begin at 3 p. m. W. W. Whitaker, of Grenada is chairman of the group.

The chairman said the committee operate independently to assist worthy debt-burdened farmers and their creditors to work out amicable adjustments that will avoid foreclosure and ultimately benefit all concerned. Either debtor or creditor may seek adjustment assistance from the committee, the chairman said.

Farm debt adjustment work is sponsored by the Farm Security Administration and the services of the committee are free to all concerned. Only farmers who are doing their honest best to meet their obligations are invited to apply for assistance.

Adjustments are reached by arriving at a common-sense agreement between debtor and creditor based on the debtor's ability to pay.

Those interested in seeking the committee's services should contact the chairman or the county Farm Security Administration supervisor.

MISSISSIPPI FARM NEWS

(By F. J. Hurst)

The Chemical Industry, the third largest in American manufacturing, plans to spend 100 million dollars in expanding production plants during the next 12 months.

County agents report that the use of basic slag, superphosphate and lime by farmers is increasing. The application of these mineral elements on permanent pastures and under winter and summer legumes have produced remarkable increases in yields.

The Bureau of Animal Industry during the past 46 months has tested 290,880 head of cattle in 14,988 herds in Mississippi in the Bang's disease control program. A total of 17,621 animals were found infected and were removed from the herds in the clean-up campaign.

Mississippi farm women who have access to native materials are using their ingenuity in designing articles for sale. The materials cost little but the trouble of gathering, and the sale of the finished articles bring in needed cash.

Class freight rates between western states and southern states were reduced on the average between 7 and 10 percent by a recent decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The decision affects Mississippi, which will benefit from the lower rates into the western region.

Poultrymen should now sell all male birds that they do not expect to keep for breeders next year. The sale of the male birds will not only save feed but will enable the poultrymen to produce the best quality eggs. Fertile eggs begin to germinate and break down quickly in warm weather. Infertile eggs keep better. This is also the season of the year when the poultrymen must be on the alert to control mites and other parasites of the flock.

For the past 25 years the income from cottonseed has increased in proportion to the total income from the cotton crop. Last year's cottonseed crop brought southern farmers nearly 130 million dollars. This was over 50 percent above the annual average income from the sale of cottonseed during the pre-war years, reports the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

The Bureau points out that the growing importance of cottonseed as a source of farm income has followed the increasing use of cottonseed oil.

Commercial hatcheries produced 22 million baby chicks during the month of March, reports the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The hatch of baby chicks for the first three months of this year was about 10 percent above that of the first three months of last year. Farmers have bought more baby chicks this year and on April 1 had on the average nearly a third more young chickens per farm flock than a year ago and more than on any other April 1 since 1927.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics reports that "prices of butter are likely to be lower this summer than during the past two years". Production of milk has increased and purchases by consumers have fallen off because of the drop in employment. However prices of butter this summer will be affected by the program of the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation. The Corporation recently bought more than 4½ million pounds of butter and 5 million pounds of skim milk. The Corporation has also invited bids on another 5 million pounds of dry skim milk. Both the milk and butter purchased by the Corporation was allotted to state agencies for distribution to people on relief.

Rayon is the third most important textile fiber in terms of quantities produced, says the Consumer's Guide, issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Trade practice rules for the rayon industry include informative labeling.

Fly trapping is a partial means of getting rid of these pests. It is of sufficient importance to warrant the revision and reprinting of Farmers' Bulletin 734, Fly Traps and Their Operation, obtainable free from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. This is the season to apply its suggestions.

Fifteen cents is the price of a new educational publication, entitled "What the Forest Give," written by Martha Bensley Bruere, which tells of new discoveries about wood, such as plywood for houses, cellulose products, and sugars. It is issued by the Forest Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Mississippi Streams Calling Fishermen

Jackson, Miss., May 12—Receding waters in Mississippi are beckoning fishermen to take up their chief summer-time sports activity.

Chairman W. E. McIntyre of the State Game and Fish Commission, has been advised by wardens that early fishing is already producing good results, and with other areas opening almost daily with the rapidly dropping in the water levels.

Simultaneously with the opening of the fishing season, Chairman McIntyre announced a new service of the Game and Fish Commission, beginning June 1, in which weekly reports on fishing conditions in the counties will be available.

"We will have these condition reports available to those who desire to ascertain the situation before taking up their rod and reel or pole and line, as the case may be," Mr. McIntyre said. "Our wardens will make weekly reports on conditions, and we will in turn make them available to those interested in securing this information."

Chairman McIntyre said that "fairly good" catches have been reported by fishermen from Eagle Lake, Moon Lake, and Lake Washington. He also stated that the new fishing license is proving popular with fishermen, especially in view of the fact that a large portion o tfhe revenue is to be used in development of fishing areas, protecting fishlife, rescue work and in propagation.

Under the new fishing statute, which went into effect May 1, individual licenses are $1.25; family licenses, good for those in the immediate household, $2.25; and non-resident, $2.25.

Those using pole and line from banks are not affected by the new license unless they fish from a boat, raft or dredge. All artificial bait fishermen, regardless of where they fish, must secure the permits.

Club members are required to have fishing licenses to fish in private or club lakes, provided artificial bait is used or they fish from a boat, raft or dredge. Where a lake or pond is owned for its entire shoreline by one individual, that individual is not required to have a license on this particular body of water.

It was pointed out that the Game and Fish Commission has cooperated with many lake owners and club operators in restocking their lakes and ponds.

The new license law applies only to fresh waters of the state.

For the second time in less than twelve months, the question of Wages and Hours Legislation has again come to a head in the United States Congress. Last Fall, the House killed a bill by sending it back to the Committee on Labor, and this Committee has brought out another bill to which the Rules Committee refused to give the right-of-way for consideration. In the face of this, the President on last Saturday wrote a letter to Mrs. Mary T. Norton, Chairman of the Committee on Labor, in which he asked for a vote on the Wage Bill. Still, the Rules Committee refused to give the right-of-way, and on Friday, May 6th, a petition was filed in the House to discharge this Committee, that is, to bring the Wages and Hours Bill before the House. In less than three hours the required number of 218 Congressmen, almost entirely from the North and East, had signed the petition. This means that beginning May 23rd there will be another Wages and Hours fight in the House of Representatives. Three large farm organizations, including the National Grange, have announced their opposition to the Bill, terming it as "harmful and demoralizing," but the American Federation of Labor and the C. I. O. have united in its support. If this Bill were passed, no man working in an industry, the products of which go into Interstate Commerce could be required to work more than forty-four hours a week and the lowest wage that could be paid him would be 25c an hour. After three years, the wage is to increase to 40c an hour, the hours to forty.

On Tuesday, the Senate passed the billion dollar Big Navy Bill. This measure had already been passed by the House of Representatives.

On Thursday, the Senate passed the bill to provide for the administration and maintenance of the Natchez Trace Parkway in Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee. This Bill, introduced by the writer, had also passed the House of Representatives.

On Friday, the House passed a bill authorizing the appropriation of $484,000,000 for Federal aid for road construction. This authorization is for the years 1940 and 1941.

On Friday, the Senate Committee on Appropriations approved the biggest Agricultural Appropriation Bill known in history. It would appropriate more than a billion dollars to be used in the farm program during the year 1939.

TOP DRESS with POTASH

WHEN cotton begins to rust, profits begin to go. Save those profits by using from 80-100 lbs. of muriate of potash per acre in a nitrogen-potash top-dresser applied immediately after chopping. Experiments have shown that where potash was applied in the top-dresser the value of the crop was increased $15 to $25 per acre by larger yields, better grade, and longer staple.

The use of potash to control rust and reduce wilt also produces larger bolls that open normally and make the crop easier to pick, thus reducing harvesting costs and increasing profits.

Consult your county agent or experiment station about the fertility of your soil. If you did not apply enough potash at planting time to control rust and reduce wilt, see your fertilizer dealer or manufacturer about adding the equivalent of 50-100 lbs. of muriate of potash per acre in a nitrogen-potash top-dresser.

OUR NARCOTIC PROBLEM

(By Dr. Felix J .Underwood)

Some months ago, a man in Mississippi set fire to the house in which his wife and baby were sleeping. His intention at the time was to burn them alive, but fortunately for both himself and his family, they awoke and escaped

He "awoke" too—"awoke" from the insane effects of marihuana cigarettes he had smoked. Inflamed instincts quieted down. Sense and sensibilities which had been deadened came to life. The man was shocked and horified at the hideous murder he had attempted. "I was crazy," he moaned, when police investigated. "I smoked a reefer and went loco. I didn't know what I was doing."

The man was right. He was crazy. He was temporarily out of his mind from the evil effects of the drug, marihuana.

Most drugs, like other discoveries of science, have great capacity for good and evil. Used medicinally they are a boon to physican and patient. Pain too excruciating to bear, from injury and illness, may be relieved by the judicious use of narcotics, and needless and inhuman suffering may thus be prevented.

But the same narcotic which is a great aid in bodily distress may make of man an object lower than an animal. If its use if perverted, it will pervert the user, destroying character, will power, and conscience. It is this phase of the situation which constitutes our narcotic problem today.

We have a narcotic problem in Mississippi; we have a narcotic problem in the United States; and there is an international narcotic problem of gigantic proportions.

Most of the nations of the world joined hands in limiting the manufacture and distribution of narcotics at the Geneva Conference of 1931. This measure closed nearly all the sources of illicit drugs in America and Europe. But its value, we believe, has been offset to a large extent by the increase of narcotic production in the Japanese-owned provinces of Manchukuo and Jehol. Japan not only makes no attempt at controlling the narcotic menace, but actually is thus increased by sales —sales were 25 percent higher in 1937 than in 1936— and if China wishes to become a nation of sleep-walkers, then their conquest is so much the easier for the Japanese!

This attitude, we think, on the part of Japan is a dark spot in Oriental history. But more than that it is a menace to the Occident as well. The increased production of narcotics makes the wealthy United States especial prey of smugglers with a lust for gold. With the exception of China, America is the biggest market for illicit drugs in the world.

To close up the loophole in our narcotic laws, Congress last year enacted the Marihuana Tax Act of 1937. This law provides "severe penalties for the illegal planting, cultivating, harvesting, transporting and selling of marihuana." All but seven states in the Union have passed the Uniform State Narcotic Law which strengthens and reinforces the National Narcotic Laws. Mississippi passed this act in March, 1936, to "regulate the manufacture, sale, possession, control, prescribing, administering, dispensing, compounding, mixing, cultivation and growth of narcotic drugs in this state."

Perhaps the biggest drawback to narcotic law enforcement in the past has been the low fine and short term of imprisonment meted out to violators. Under the Harrison Narcotic Law five years' imprisonment and $2,000 fine or both was the maximum penalty imposed. During the last session of Congress, however, a law was passed whereby the term of imprisonment may be upped to ten years for second offenders and twenty years for third offenders. By imposing the maximum penalty, the courts of our nation can curtail the insidious traffic in narcotics to a large extent.

That narcotics and crime are closely related has long been a recognized fact. An interesting case in point is a certain Virginia city where it became known that two doctors were supplying addicts with morphine. During the period in which their business thrived, from 1934-1936, the grapevine system hummed. Addicts from all the surrounding states got news of their bonanza and flocked to this particular town to get their so-called prescriptions filled. In three short years crime increased enormously as indicated by these figures: arrests for burglary increased from 11 to 38; for drug addicts from 56 to 155; for highway robbery from 78 to 97; and for petty larceny from 785 to 1,025. Such is the record for one city, and like figures exist any place where dope peddlers are permitted to evade the law.

It is a challenge not only to the police who enforce the law but to the law-abiding citizens of any state or city to wipe out this vicious racket which demoralizes and degrades the citizenship. That a very few physicians take advantage of their scientific training and prerogatives to "cash in" on the narcotic evil is a disgrace which the community and profession from which they come should take pains to eradicate. A physician guilty of such conduct does not belong in the trusting and respectful community in which he perpetrates his evil and death-dealing trade, but in the cold stone cell of the penitentiary. The courts, generally, have been far too lenient with such cases in the past.

Concerning the narcotic problem in Mississippi, it is encouraging to note that the legislature in this session considering an amendment to the Uniform Narcotic Law passed in 1936 whereby the barbituric acid compounds will be available only on a physician's order. Consisting of such habit-forming medicines as amytal, veronal, luminal, and theonynal, tablets containing barbituric acid are sold in Mississippi without a physician's order and are bringing on a drug addiction among people who themselves are unaware of their condition.

For instance, Mrs. A. has a headache which aspirin does not relieve. Her friend, Mrs. B. suggests that she try an amytal which she does and which improves her feelings considerably. Twenty or thirty headaches later, Mrs. A. is using two amytals, and has grown gradually to depend on them to make her sleep better at night and to relieve that pain between the shoulders and the neuritis in her arm. Without her knowledge she joins those addicted to barbituric acid, many of whom have become insane and are now confined behind the walls of Mississippi State Hospital at Whitfield and the East Mississippi Hospital at Meridian.

The use of any barbituric acid compound should, by all means, be limited to the discretion of your physician, who knows your needs in this matter. The control of barbituric acids will, no doubt, be enacted into Mississippi law this year.

Regarding the use of marihuana in Mississippi, it is already a problem of unknown proportions and one which must be stamped out before it gains a more menacing foothold. According to the State Drug Inspector, "There isn't a sheriff's office in the state where they are not conscious of local addicts of both marihuana and barbituric acid."

The ease with which marihuana is grown in Mississippi and every other state in the country adds to its unknown and untold dangers. Marihuana is taken from Indian hemp, a plant which also has many beneficial uses. From hemp, rope and certain coarse cloths are made, and from its seed a quick-drying paint oil is extracted. The seed are also used in bird feed and are thought to stimulate singing. It is from the resinous product of the dried, crushed leaves and flowers of the plant that the narcotic effect comes, and this is more often obtained through smoking than any other way.

The marihuana cigarettes peddled by small-time racketeers—often hot tamale venders, hot dog stands, and sometimes even school janitors—are usually 15 to 20 per cent cannabis or marihuana, the remainder being tobacco.

The great tragedy of marihuana is its attack on the youth of the land—young boys and girls in high school and college lead on by petty racketeers to try something new, something with a punch, an exciting thrill. This is the type of sales talk that goes over biggest with youngsters of the 'teen age, blind to danger and daring to try anything once.

The first effect of marihuana is a feeling of buoyancy and well-being which gives way to a superior attitude that the smoker could fight the world. Then comes the third stage, or a tendency to commit misdemeanors and crimes unthought of in a normal state. This drug acts physiologically by causing the brain rapidly to deteriorate.

Medical science seldom uses marihuana as a palliative because of its widely varying effect on different individuals. But there is one constant result of this pernicious drug which never changes. Its use brings sorrow, disgrace, and finally violent insanity.

I call to mind particularly at this time a fine Mississippi boy, a lad whose family is of the highest type and on whose name there has never been a blemish. While away at school this lad started smoking marihuana cigarettes with a group and under the influence of the narcotic, forged several checks. This misdemeanor was entirely uncalled for as the boy wanted for nothing and could at any time have asked for money and received it from his family. Such conduct could only be explained in his own words, "When I got lit on marihuana, I didn't have any conscience."

To cite another tragic case, a South Mississippi woman went raving crazy from smoking only one and a half marihuana cigarettes. Evidently the proportion of cannabis in them must have been greater than the usual 20 per cent. However, the acute, immediate, and overwhelming danger of the drug cannot be overemphasized.

To sum up, drug addiction means moral degradation, physical wreckage, social pollution, economic ruin, and increased crime.

Fellow Mississippians, be wise to the narcotic menace. Help to fight it for all our sakes!

"Behind The Scenes In American Business"

(BY JOHN CRADDOCK)

New York, May 9—BUSINESS—What can be done to get business going again and the wheels of industry turning? That question is on many lips these days. Figures on private investment in securities reveal one sore spot that must be healed. Stocks and bonds are sold primarily to provide money for building new factories or enlarging existing factories thus providing work for many people. Last month only $13,800,000 worth of new stocks and bonds were sold, lowest since November, 1936. In April, 1937, $17,000,000 worth of new securities were issued. The way things are going now it is likely that less than $400,000,000 will be invested in industry this year. Compare this with the $2,-835,400,000 investment figure of 1936, or the $3,687,800,000 figure of 1929, or even the $1,320,480,000 figure of 1937. In other words, the average adult put $35 of his 1936 savings into new stocks and bonds, while this year the figure will be in the neighborhood of only $9.

Washington — While the President cruised 1,000 miles off the Florida coast on the Navy ship Philadelphia, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce held its annual meeting in Washington last week and asked for a two or three-year "breathing spell." Senators and Congressmen, anxious to leave Washington before the hot weather, eyed with interest the primary elections in Alabama, South Dakota, Indiana, and Florida. In the latter state an important primary contest was held, and the New Deal Candidate, Senator Claude Pepper, easily defeated his four democratic opponents. This vote of confidence in the administration and New Deal policies revived agitation for passage of a wages and hours bill at this session.

BOWL OF RICE — The biggest movement ever undertaken in the United States to aid suffering noncombatants of a war stricken country was launched last week by the United States for Civilian Relief in China, headed by Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. On June 17th, in hundreds of cities and towns, thousands of Americans will participate in a national Bowl of Rice Dinner and Ball, the proceeds from which will be used to send food and medical supplies to more than 30,000,000 Chinese civilian refugees.

THINGS TO WATCH FOR — A grocery bag that automatically closes itself when filled . . An alarm attachment for automatic milking machines that whistle when the cow has been milked dry . . A device which crushes old razor blades into powder for convenient disposal . . . A combination tooth brush and syringe which rinses teeth while it scrubs . . . A payroll satchel which discharges tear gas when snatched out of a messenger's hand . . Some of the 27,702,009 new coins, valued at $1,-001,212, minted by the U. S. treasury during April.

CONSUMER VICTORY — A three-judge Federal court last week declared unconstitutional Minnesota's so-called unfair trade practice act. The decision was widely hailed by consumers as a clear-cut victory because it prevented a threatened increase in food prices. The law, now void, would have compelled a merchant owning a cash-and-carry store and a self-service store to charge the same prices in all of his stores. He would have been unable to pass on to his customers the savings resulting from lower operating costs in some stores. The court held "such price differentials have been regarded as beneficial to the public and not harmful to any one." Consumers were hopeful the decision would have a bearing on similar laws in other states.

DO YOU KNOW THAT — 11,-497 more vacationers a day visited Miami during the 1937-38 winter season than in the 1936-37 season when nation-wide business conditions were more prosperous . . . Evening dresses without shoulder straps were reported the outstanding fashion item during April by a leading New York department store, accounting for 30 percent of all formal evening wear sales . . . John J. Raskob, democratic national chairman during the Smith-Hoover campaign, will sell his private railroad car for $25,000; it cost $110,000 in 1929, contains three rooms, three baths and fourteen beds . . To encourage tourist trade, France will issue tourist cards this year whereby visitors remaining more than six days will be allowed reduced railroad fares and gasoline prices.

HEADLINES — Jesse Jones, RFC chairman, urges greater activity by banks in meeting loan requirements . . Federal Housing Administration reports increase in applications for mortgage appraisals during April . . American Federation of Labor pledges industry its help for recovery . . . Private crop forecasters see largest winter wheat harvest since 1931; May 1 estimate is 743,000,000 bushels, an increase of 26,000,000 bushels over the outlook 30 days ago. . . Frank (Bring 'Em Back Alive) Buck refuses to join union; circus workers threaten new strike . . . French franc again devalued to approximately 36 for the dollar.

Election of Officers For Coming Year

State College, Miss., May 11—Election of officers for the coming year, discussion of how livestock production can be used to increase farm income, approval of plans for a beef cattle exhibit at the Mississippi State Fair in Jackson this fall and the placing of top calves with 4-H club boys for fitting and showing at spring shows, and presentation of this year's 4-H champions, featured the 13th annual meeting of the Mississippi Livestock Association here recently.

Ransom Aldrich of Michigan City was reelected president; M. R. Headley, Port Gibson, was named vice president, and T. C. Potts, Crenshaw, Dr. Price Ivy, of West Point and Jake Wagner, of Fayette, were elected on the board of directors.

A nominating committee composed of Boswell Stevens, Macon; George P. Harris, Winona; and J. R. Williams, Jackson, recommended and the association voted to submit the names of M. H. White, Olive Branch; Frank Barlow, Hermanville; and W. Y. Brame, Meridian, to Governor White who will select one of the three as a member of the Mississippi Livestock Sanitary Board.

President Aldrich announced that he was furnishing the top bull calves in his herd to 4-H club members who will fit and show them at the spring shows next year. He recommended that a group of Mississippi 4-H club boys with their calves show at the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago next year.

The association sent a telegram to Dr. Curtis Cooper, McNeil, who will be 82 years old Saturday and who discovered the cycle of the cattle tick and developed the plan for its eradication, for his contribution to the country's livestock industry.

Talks were made by W. A. Montgomery, Edwards, banker and farmer; E. H. White, director of extension; Hillard Canada, Mississippi State College student; Bode Hughes, county agent, Macon, and J. R. Ricks, director of experiment stations.

President G. D. Humphrey who welcomed the members and visitors, lauded the association for its work in increasing the interest in and bringing about improvement of the livestock industry.

J. E. Tanner, state club agent, introduced Jack Williams, Pelahatchie; Robert Bond, Michigan City; Dan McKay, Port Gibson, and Wilkins Montgomery, Edwards, who exhibited the grand champion fat calves at the Port Gibson, Forest, West Point and Edwards shows.

Hillard Canada in telling why he plans to return to the farm after his graduation at State College in June said farming offers a means of making a good living, a chance to accumulate property, to manage an enterprise and enjoy a greater degree of independence. He said both his experience and training fitted him for the farm which he likes more than any other occupation.

Outlining the livestock program underway in Noxubee county, Bode Hughes said farmers of the county owned 15 jacks, 16 stallions, 900 brood mares, had a good crop of spring mule and horse colts, was supplying a large milk condensery, a cheese plant and a creamery, and that both hog production and sheep production were being improved. He said production of workstock, improvement of pastures, larger production of feed and improvement in the quality of animals were major phases of the livestock program.

Mr. Montgomery recommended organization of local farm clubs similar to business men luncheon clubs as a means of getting farmers together to study and discuss farm problems.

Director White warned producers against going into livestock production during periods of high prices and going out in times of low prices. He pointed out that farmers are now making basic adjustments in agriculture and that cattle production can be used as one means of supplementing farm income on farms suited to this enterprise.

Federated Women's Club Seek Iron Lung

(Editod's Note: The following has just been sent out to the presidents of all Federated Women's Clubs of Mississippi).

Dear Club Woman:

Your enthusiastic cooperation is needed at once. The Research Club of Jackson has inaugurated a movement, sponsored by the M. F. W. C., for the purchase of an Iron Lung for the treatment of infantile paralysis.

Since the cost of this instrument is approximately $1,000.00, and because its Scientific uses and needs are so numerous and urgent at this season, Mississippi club women must again pioneer in this project in this great service.

With the sympathetic and enthusiastic approval and help of our State President, and the approval of our Executive Board, we invite and urge every Mississippi man, woman, boy, and girl to share in this Federation service for our unfortunate ones.

As a club president, of course you know that Mississippi has no iron lung, so we are asking you to place this matter before your club members immediately in order that no time may be lost in making your plans to secure funds in your town or community for the purchase of this machine before the summer epidemic of infantile paralysis.

Your woman's heart every woman's heart! will hasten to respond to this appeal because you realize its urgent and immediate need.

Signed:

Mrs. J. H. Fox,
Chairman of Committee
Mrs. J. H. Wells,
President Research Club
Mrs. G. H. Ford, Mrs.
S. S. Taylor, Mrs.
George May.

Send all contributions to Mrs. E. G. Peatross, 949 North Jefferson Street, Jackson, Miss.

DAIRY FARMERS CAN ADD $500,000 TO CASH INCOME

State College, Miss., May 12—Mississippi dairy farmers can add $500,000 annually to their cash income by improving the quality of cream produced.

F. H. Herser, professor of dairy husbandry at Mississippi State College, reports that much of the cream sold in the state is classed as second grade and produces poor butter.

"Poor butter," he says, "brings an average of 5 cents a pound less than good butter and decreases consumption of butter. Statistics show," he says, "that consumption of butter decreased from 18.2 pounds per capita in 1926 to 16.8 pounds in 1937. During the same period the consumption of butter substitutes increased from 1.7 pounds to 3.1 pounds per capita."

Professor Herser then urges the dairymen of the state that they by assuring the consumer that every pound of butter he buys will be clean, sweet and well flavored can the trend be checked. He then says that "this type of butter can be produced if the dairymen will use the following simple practices:

1. See that the flanks and udder of the cow are clean and that the udder with a damp cloth before milking.
2. Use a small top milk pail.
3. Separate the milk while still warm, using a separator set to deliver cream containing approximately 35 percent butterfat in the winter and 40 percent in the summer.
4. Protect the cream from contamination such as dust, dirt, soil, mice, etc.
5. Immediately after using the separator and other utensils, clean thoroughly with a good dairy cleanser and place in a dry sunny place. Just before using equipment rinse with a chlorine solution (50 p. p. m.)
6. A cream cooling tank protected from the sun will help materially in holding the cream at a cool temperature. Specifications may be secured from the Dairy Department.
7. Do not mix warm cream with cold cream. When one lot of cold cream is added to another lot mix until the mixture is uniform.
8. Market the cream while fresh, preferably before it sours. Do not hold cream over four days, but deliver as often as economic conditions will permit.
9. Cover the cream can with a wet sack during warm weather en-route to market.
